About

Dr. Beth Snyder's personal experience with chiropractic care was the catalyst that changed the course of her life's work. Plagued by chronic headaches for most of her life, she sought out the advice of an array of general practitioners, ophthalmologists, and neurologists...to no avail. When she was finally exposed to the benefits of holistic healthcare at the age of 28, her life quickly began to transform. Through chiropractic care, the untreatable pain that had become a way of life was now a thing of the past.

For the first time in her life, Dr. Snyder was not only headache free, but she was also acutely aware of what she was born to do. At once, Dr. Snyder decided to change career paths- leaving the corporate world to pursue a professional post graduate degree to become a Doctor of Chiropractic (DC) from Life Chiropractic College West.

Wishing to provide her patients with the very best of holistic care, she decided to take her education one step further and returned to school yet again- this time to become a licensed acupuncturist. Her appreciation for the benefits of acupuncture and its complement to western holistic healthcare propelled her along as she obtained her Master's degree from the Won Institute of Graduate Studies.

As one of the few chiropractors in Pennsylvania licensed in acupuncture, she provides a unique approach to holistic wellness incorporating various methods of treatment. Her superior focus on patient education demystifies the field of alternative medicine while allowing her patients to fully commit to the process.

Dr. Beth Snyder's heartfelt commitment to her family of clients is palpable. Her strong connection to each person who walks through her office doors is only surpassed by her commitment to help each person she treats "to live the life that they want to live."
